1. Two podcasts from Dad's Still Standing

Dad's Still Standing is hosted by Matt and Liam, both who have experienced baby loss, and the series is now back in it's 4th season.

From an episode back in December entitled Everything's just a bit st, they talk about what helps getting through the harder times.

Available here – 43 mins.

More recently they were joined by comedian Geoff Norcott, and the three dads discuss how men are affected by grief and the support needs they have. Available here – 40 mins.

2. Article: Suspected sepsis in children and young people: assessment, recognition and when to escalate

The article provides information, tools and resources for children's nurses to use when assessing children and young people with suspected sepsis and escalating care where appropriate. It uses a case study to illustrate the challenges that may be encountered in diagnosing sepsis and providing effective care. Includes a Quiz as well to test knowledge.
